

Succeeding with 2011 Home Health Changes: Rehab Programming and Documentation Strategies

October 6, 2011

presenter
Arnie Cisneros, PT
Home Health Strategic Management

The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid (CMS) and The Medicare Payment Advisory Commission (MedPAC) have already outlined further and significant reforms for home care for the next five years. The PPS 2011 rule was just the first step. Additional costs and quality controls that will directly affect rehab programming and delivery are slated to begin over the next two years. In this full-day workshop, you will learn how to modify current practice approaches to manage the latest requirements with an eye on changes you will make next year. This dynamic presentation will include interactive examples, clinical programming, documentation exercises and tools you can use now.

In addition, the presenter will discuss how to modify current practice approaches to manage the latest requirements with an eye on changes you will make next year. This dynamic presentation will include inter-active examples, clinical programming, documentation exercises and tools you can use now.

- Outline home health rehabilitation programming requirements as addressed by CMS and MedPAC PPS reforms.
- Review current PPS clinical rehabilitation programming for elements of desired care components.
- Illustrate areas of reforms or audit concerns in contemporary PPS rehabilitation techniques, habits, delivery and outcomes.
- Identify clinical rehab delivery models for current and future PPS requirements.
- Establish clinical control management techniques to assure compliant rehabilitation programming, care plans, delivery and outcomes under an evolving PPS model.
